

Umantis applicant management

Modern applicant management software

Find the people that suit you. The Umantis applicant management module makes things as simple as possible for you – from request to approval to job posting. So you have more time for personal contact with applicants and can attract top candidates to your company.

Successful eRecruiting

Standing out thanks to its exceptionally attractive look, this digital, simple, efficient and paperless application process lets you spend your personal contact time on the right applicants so you can win top candidates for your company. From applicant request to approval to job ads on career portals (job market) and job posting across various channels.

With the attractive design of your presence, you can get across your image and employer branding in the very first phase of recruitment. By managing your applications (through HR and line), the system grants you constant checks, order and, last but not least, data protection for the particularly sensitive information in the recruitment process.

Alongside efficient, clean applicant administration, the system offers countless statistics, analyses and evaluations to show you the strengths and weaknesses of your recruitment.
